PREFACE

SINCE the publication of the first edition in 1885, the compiler has taken great pains to keep informed of the many changes taking place in the Family, and now presents it as complete to November, 1898.

This Record is intended solely for the Family, and is not for sale.

It is changed to its present form, to enable the various members to easily make such additions as may become known to them, which the previous form would not permit.

Those having copies of the previous edition will notice an almost complete change of the section, entitled, "Thomas Lincoln the Miller, to Captain Rufus Lincoln of Wareham."

It is almost impossible to obtain anything like exact data of the early branches, but those here given may be taken as being very nearly correct; some differences still appear, but they are explained by notes.

Aside from "family papers," information has been obtained from "The History of Taunton," by the Rev. Samuel H. Emery; "The Hodges Family," by A. D. Hodges; "Stephen Lincoln of Oakham," by John E. Morris; from letters in possession of the "Old Colony Historical Society of Taunton;" and researches of Mr. Frank Lincoln Stevens.

The compiler hopes that the Family will kindly keep him posted as to any changes that may occur, and also notify him of any errors or omissions which they may note.

JAMES MINOR LINCOLN.

CAPTAIN RUFUS LINCOLN

RUFUS LINCOLN

CAPTAIN RUFUS LINCOLN, the sixth in line from Thomas Lincoln "the miller," the first immigrant of our family to this country, was the son of Ichabod and Hannah (Coddington) Lincoln.

He was born November 10, 1751, at Taunton, Mass., and it is supposed he followed the pursuit of his father, that of a farmer.

When the news of the battle at Lexington was taken by courier to Taunton from Boston, April 19, 1775, it reached there the same evening, and Rufus Lincoln started the next day as corporal of his company of "minute men," reporting for duty at Roxbury. This is known as the "Lexington Alarm."

He was present at Cambridge on July 3, 1775, when Washington took command of the forces.

He took part in the so-called battle of Dorchester Heights.

Owing to the loss of many of his papers at Washington, D. C., by the burning of the Patent Office, we lose sight of his services until May 13, 1776, when he was given a commission as second lieutenant by the "council of Massachusetts Bay." (See commission No. 1.)

November 10, 1776, he received from Congress a commission signed by John Hancock, Prest., as first lieutenant, to act as captain. (See commission No. 2.)

In an old account against the United States the following shows his occupation in the army.

"Subsistence while recruiting from Dec. 1, 1776, to March 20, 1777, 15 weeks $2.60 per week $41.45."

March 20, 1777, he marched from Taunton with a company he had raised and equipped, and which he maintained at his own expense until its arrival at Fort Ticonderoga. For this he was never reimbursed by the Government, but he had afterwards to sell his farm in Taunton to pay his men.

The papers destroyed in Washington were the proofs of his service, and his claim for reimbursement and unsettled pay.

His march was through the following places: Taunton March 20, 1777, Norton, Mansfield, Wrentham, Mendon, Upton, Grafton, Worcester, Leicester, Spencer, Brookfield, Westown, Ware, Belcher, Hadley, Northampton, Chesterfield, Worthington, Partridgefield, Gageborough, New Providence, East Hoosic, Williamstown, all in Massachusetts; Pownal, Bennington, Shaftsbury, Arlington, Sunderland, Manchester, Dorset, Rupert, Pawlet, in Vermont; Skenesboro', Fort Ticonderoga, N. Y., arriving there on the 6th of April, 1777.

After the surrender of General Burgoyne and the close of the Saratoga campaign he marched to Albany October 18, thence making various stops to White Marsh, or, as it is better known, Valley Forge, where he arrived November 22, 1777.

One of his memoranda says he was allowed extra pay for building huts.

On December 28, 1777, while on a scouting party, he says he was "taken prisoner near Schoolkill near a bridge confined in the State House." He was captured by a troop of Hessians commanded by an English officer, and nearly lost his life by being thrust by a bayonet, but was saved by the officer in command striking up the musket.

He was confined as a prisoner of war in the State House until January 4, 1778, when he was confined in the "new goal" in Philadelphia.

February 17, 1778, he was removed to the "Golden Swan" in Philadelphia; thence back to the "goal" again March 18.

May 17, he says, "had my parole to Mrs. Kindals house."

Mrs. Kendal did a great deal to help the condition of the American officers confined as prisoners in Philadelphia, and after the war was over "she was voted about £400, by Congress for the support she had given our officers." (From a letter to Rufus Lincoln from a fellow prisoner of war whose home was in Philadelphia.)

May 12, he says, "took the Small pox."

June 16 he left Philadelphia for New York, where he arrived on the 28th.

June 29 he writes, "had my parole on Long Island to live at Petrus Ammermans, Flatlands Township, Kings County."

July 28, 1780, while on parole on Long Island he was commissioned by the State of Massachusetts Bay as captain of the 14th regiment of foot. (See commission No. 3.)

November 4, 1780, he removed to Mrs. Ida Striker's house, where he remained until released January 25, 1781.

Rufus Lincoln refused to attempt to escape, considering his parole of more value than his freedom.

After his release he rejoined the army, and his commission as full captain was given him by Congress, dated May 18, 1781, to rank as captain from April 13, 1780, of the 7th Massachusetts regiment. (See commission No. 4.)

In an old book he has written out an account against the Government of the United States, "for marching 80 Recruits from Springfield to West Point, for Twenty Five new Commission Dollars," which is dated May 28, 1771.

January, 1783, he received a furlough, to go home to be married (copy of which is herewith), returning to duty, on expiration of his leave, in April. The ceremony was performed by his wife's grandfather, Brigadier-General George Godfrey, of Taunton, Mass., a justice of the peace, who was vested with such authority.

"June 2, 1783. Congress Resolved that

"By the United States in Congress assembled, on motion resolved. That the Commander in Chief is instructed to grant furloughs to non-commissioned officers and soldiers in the service of the United States, enlisted to serve during the war, who shall be discharged as soon as the definite treaty of peace is concluded, together with a proportionable number of commissioned officers of different grades, and that the Secretary of War and the Commander in Chief, take proper measures for conducting these troops to their respective houses, in such a manner as may be most convenient to themselves, and the several states through which they pass, and that the men thus furloughed be allowed to take their arms with them."

Under this resolution Rufus Lincoln left the camp at New Windsor, N. Y., on furlough June 15, 1783, and on November 3, 1783, he was discharged from the army by order of Congress.

Owing to a constant dispute as to seniority among the Massachusetts captains, "A Board of General and Field Officers" was convened at Newburg, N. Y., to once and for all settle the dispute.

HEAD QUARTERS NEWBURGH 3d May 1782.

The following arrangement of Captains in the Massachusetts Line, being fixed by a board of General and Field Officers duly authorized is approved by the Commander in Chief, and it is to be considered as conclusive.

Rufus Lincoln is No. 60 on this list.

Rufus Lincoln was also an original member of the "Society of the Cincinnati."

After the war Rufus Lincoln returned to Taunton. The following is from one of his memorandum-books.

"February 11th 1783. Then Was married Rufus Lincoln to Lydia Sprague — and moved to live together, October the 14th 1783."

Rufus Lincoln's portion under the will of his father Ichabod Lincoln, "Division made February 2, 1772, was 12 acres of land, and one fourth of a Grist Mill. (Will-Book 22, Will 127, Division p. 170. Bristol County Wills.)"

Rufus Lincoln was Selectman of Taunton 1792-1796.

April 9, 1798, he moved from Taunton to Norton to live on a farm of George Leonard's, Esq.

April 2, 1799, he moved from Taunton to Wareham, Mass.

He died in Wareham, Mass., February 11, 1838, on the fifty-fifth anniversary of his marriage, and at about the same time in the afternoon, in his eighty-seventh year, respected by all who knew him.

Rufus Lincoln was small of stature, an unassuming man, patriotic, and enthusiastic in the cause of liberty.

It is to be regretted that no picture of him exists, nor is it known that he ever had one painted.

It was the testimony of his old Colonel, Gamaliel Bradford, — as told by his son Gamaliel, Jr., who had been a lieutenant in Rufus Lincoln's company, — to my grandfather Minor Sprague Lincoln, that "Captain Lincoln was never shot in the back."

Letters in possession of the family, from his comrades in arms, speak of him with affection and respect.

On the 5th of April next (1899) it will be just one hundred years since Rufus Lincoln arrived from Norton, Mass., with two ox teams, conveying his family and worldly possessions, taking up his home upon what has ever since been known as "Lincoln Hill."

The old homestead is still in the possession of the family, the present owner and occupant being the compiler of these records, a great-grandson of Captain Rufus Lincoln.

FAMILIES FROM WHICH SHE DESCENDED

LYDIA SPRAGUE

LYDIA SPRAGUE, the daughter of Minor Sprague and Deborah Godfrey, his wife, was born in Lebanon, Conn., February 27, 1758. She was descended from Richard Godfrey, 1st, as follows :—

Richard Godfrey, 1st . . .	wife unknown.

John Godfrey	Johanna Gooding.
George Godfrey (Brig.-Gen.)	Lydia Hodges.

Almira Shepard. Mrs. Mary Ann Borden. Caroline Augusta Seabury.
George Gilbert Lincoln	unmarried.
Lydia Lincoln	Elnathan Ellis.

Her grandfather, George Godfrey, was a man of note in his day, and was called the "little God of Taunton." He was the son of John Godfrey and Johanna Gooding, his wife.

He was born in Taunton March 19, 1720-1.

He served as a private in 1746 in the French and Indian wars, afterwards served on the frontier in 1762, was commissioned captain of a troop of horse in 1771, major of a regiment of militia, the companies coming from Taunton, Norton, Mansfield, Attleboro', and Raynham, was colonel in 1774, and continued till the Revolutionary War.

Was a member of the Committee of Correspondence and Safety during the war. Promoted from colonel to office of brigadier-general, and was the first citizen of Bristol County, Mass., upon whom the rank, title, and honor were conferred. Dated 1776, February 8.

Commanded the Bristol County Brigade till 1781, about five years, two of them including the most dark and gloomy period of the American Revolution, and which are spoken of even now as "the days that tried men's souls."

He commanded the Bristol County Brigade at Rhode Island August 1, 1780.

Was a Selectman of Taunton, 1788, 1789, 1790, 1791.

County Treasurer, 1776, 1791.

County Assessor, 1775, 1788.

Town Treasurer, 1775.

Representative to General Court, 1770, 1784.

Justice of the Peace; he married from September, 1760, to March 29, 1781, or as far as his records are extant; but he married later than this, as our ancestors Lydia Sprague and Rufus Lincoln were married by him in 1783.

General George Godfrey was three times married. His first wife was Lydia Hodges (daughter of Henry Hodges and Sarah Leonard, his wife), who was born about 1720, married to George Godfrey April 3, 1740, and died 1741-2.

They had one daughter by this marriage, Deborah Godfrey, who was the mother of Lydia Sprague.

His second wife, Bethia Hodges, whom he married May 9, 1744, bore him five daughters and three sons.

His third wife was a Mrs. Abigail Dean, 2d, née Shaw, whom he married September 5, 1786.

George Godfrey died June 29, 1793.

Lydia Sprague was also descended from one of the "Signers of the Mayflower Compact," it is claimed, though this has not been absolutely authenticated; still, it gives her descent in another line. The doubt is whether the John Rogers mentioned was the son of Thomas of the Mayflower, there being no less than four of this name living at the same time and in the same neighborhood.

It is correct, however, from "Abigail Rogers," down.

Thomas Rogers	Mayflower Signer, died 1621.
John Rogers	Ann Churchman.
Abigail Rogers	John Richmond.
Mary Richmond	Richard Godfrey, 2d.
John Godfrey	Johanna Gooding.

DERIVATION OF THE NAME OF LINCOLN

THE name Lincoln is derived from two words, "Lin" being an abbreviation of the name of the Roman colony of Lindum, England, the site of the present city of Lincoln, and "Coln," from Colonia. Consequently the name means "Lindum Colonia."

As to the meaning of the word Lindum there is no knowledge.

This, and the Roman colony of Agrippina, or as contracted to the present "Coln," "Koln," "Cologne," are the only two colonies of Imperial Rome which continue to have this designation perpetuated in their names.

Wareham, Mass., is named from Wareham, County Dorset, England, and is similarly situated on a peninsula.

Wareham, Mass., is on a peninsula at the head of Buzzard's Bay, between the rivers Weweantit on the west, and the Wankinquoah on the east, upon the latter of which is situated the town.

Wareham, England, is on a peninsula between the rivers Piddle and Frome.

The country around Wareham, Mass., was settled early in the history of Plymouth Colony (about 1680) by settlers from Plymouth, to whom grants were made by the colony, the land having been bought from the Indians.

The town was incorporated July 6, 1739.

The name of Lincoln has been variously spelled by our worthy ancestors, Lincon, Linkon, Linkoln, Linkhorn, Linkhoon, Linton, and by Thos. Lincoln "the Miller" as Linckon.

Thomas Lincoln, "the Miller," to distinguish him from the three other Thomas Lincolns (the Weaver, the Cooper, the Husbandman), came to Hingham, Mass., from Norfolk County, England, in 1635.

On the 3d of July, 1636, he was granted house lots of five acres of land, on what is now South, near Main Street. In 1649 he removed to Taunton and plied his trade as a miller.

In his will of 28 August, 1683, he calls himself "eighty years of age or thereabout." Will proved March 5th following. ("History of Taunton," by the Town, 1893, vol. iii. pt. 2, p. 20.)

Thomas Lincoln returned to Hingham, where he died Feb. 11, 1684.

EXTRACTS RELATING TO THOMAS LINCOLN THE MILLER

From "History of Taunton, Mass." by SAMUEL EMERY HOPKINS, D. D.

P. 90. Thomas Lincon Senior "Miller" came to Taunton from Hingham in 1649, and for the purpose of pursuing his calling, which he faithfully followed.

The town voted him accommodations.

His residence was on the mill lot, on the west side of the mill. He became a large landholder. He died in 1684. The inventory of his estate was 205 pounds and 8 shillings. His will of 1683 gives his loving wife Elizabeth the use of his house and orchard "where my house now standeth, if she remain a widow."

His son John has the house "where he now dwelleth this side Scaddings Moor."

John, Samuel, and daughter Mary have the Mill. He also makes mention of his eldest son Thomas, his daughter Sarah's son, and his son-in-law Joseph Willis.

Thomas Linkon Junior, who came from Hingham with his father, was assigned a house lot by vote of the town as follows:—

"It is also ordered that Thomas Linkon Junior shall have six acres of land at y^e place, where the meeting house timber was cut, to be laid out as shall be most convenient upon view by such as are appointed to take view thereof."

P. 109. In a deed found in Plymouth Colony Deeds, book 3, page 118, Thomas Linkoln Senior, and Thomas Linkoln Jr. are among the grantees.

P. 119. If therefore these eighty three pounds be added to the 190 pounds paid directly to Philip [King Philip] it would seem that the South Purchase cost the purchasers 273 pounds in all.

This whole tract four miles square was therefore, November 26, 1672, conveyed by said committee to the parties interested, by a declaratory deed of that date of which a copy may be found in "Taunton Proprietary Rec.," vol. iv., p. 232.

Among the names of "ye Associates" we find

"Thomas Linkon Senr.

Thomas Linkon Junr."

An interesting clause of that deed reads, "3^{dly} — That these associates shall not make any alteration of their parts or interest, in the aforesaid land to any foreigner except first approved by the town of Taunton."

Pp. 328-330. The first military company of Taunton was raised in 1649. The next record, after the "Act of the General Court approving of the Company Officers," is a roster, found among the "City Hall Papers," dated April 8, 1682, showing that the company was divided into four squadrons, for the guidance of members in attendance of meeting on the "Lord's Day," and there appears in the —

"2^d Squadron — Thomas Linkon."

"The Court's order is that every soldier bring his armes fixed to meeting, when it is his turn, with six charges of powder and shot, and if any refuse to performe therein, to be fined too shillings for every such default, and ten shillings if it appear to be in contempt, to be gathered by order from the Commission Officers, and by the Constables, and if any stay from meeting because they will not bring their Armes to meeting such to be summoned to court &c.

"Therefore fail not of your duty, and expect no further warning.

"GEORGE MACEY.

"THOMAS LEONARD.

"April the 8th 1682."

The squadrons were to bring their "armes" from April 16th to the last of October, taking their turns successively.

The first settlers of Taunton were for the most part working men and women.

They tilled the land, and their corn crop suggested a "Grist Mill," not far from Cohanet Street, where a dam was built, 1639-40.

A document bearing date 1711, and signed by one hundred and seven inhabitants of Taunton, distinctly states:—

"We have heard, and some of our fathers have told, that the reason of building our town where it is, was, that small river to set our Grist Mill on, and there, hath been one from the beginning of the town.

"The name of the first miller known to us is Thomas Linkon, who came to Taunton from Hingham in 1649, removing his family here in 1652, the year that has been sometimes called 'The Year,' but erroneously, as we have shown, of the first Grist Mill. Mr. Linkon was proprietor of the mill some thirty years or till his death in 1684, when his sons John and Samuel came into possession of it."

In 1698-99 Robert Crossman purchased the property for sixty pounds.

Iron had been discovered quite abundant on "Two Mile River" and other locations in Taunton, and the enterprising Pilgrim settlers considered the field open for the establishment of a "bloomerie" on that river.

The first steps were taken Oct. 23, 1652. The company was organized in 1653-54, and the name of Thomas Linkon Senior is among the subscribers.
